

From: TucsonSentinel.com
To: Frank V. Tellez
Subject: No More Deaths volunteers found guilty, plus: Tucson "sanctuary city" initiative, Dorman for mayor? & more local news
Date: Friday, January 18, 2019 18:21:08

Updates from your local independent online news source — because
A SMARTER TUCSON IS A BETTER TUCSON

Email not displaying correctly?
View it in your browser.

Breaking news from TucsonSentinel.com

No More Deaths volunteers found guilty for water drops in protected wilderness

Four No More Deaths volunteers, charged with federal misdemeanors after they left water and food for migrants crossing Southern Arizona's protected Cabeza Prieta National Wildlife Refuge, have been found guilty, U.S. District Court Judge Bernardo Velasco ruled late Friday.

In a court decision released late Friday, Velasco said that the four women — Natalie Hoffman, Oona Holcomb, Madeline Huse, and Zaachila Orozco-McCormick — violated federal laws, because "they did not get an access permit, they did not remain on designated roads, and they left water, food, and crates in the Refuge," he wrote.

"All of this, in addition to violating the law, erodes the national decision to maintain the Refuge in its pristine nature," Velasco said. They each face up to six months in prison and a fine of $500, and will be sentenced on February 18, he said.

The case has major implications for the future of humanitarian aid for people crossing through Arizona's deserts, especially in the remote stretch of landscape known as the Growler Valley, which sets inside 800,000 acres of protected wilderness in the Cabeza Prieta National Wildlife Refuge. No More Deaths is among the local humanitarian groups that provides aid — including water stations in rugged areas far from populated areas — for border crossers who might otherwise be numbered among the dead in the desert.

"This verdict challenges not only No More Deaths volunteers, but people of conscience throughout the country. If giving water to someone dying of thirst is illegal, what humanity is left in the law of this country?" said Catherine Gaffney, a longtime No More Deaths volunteer. Read more, including the full decision, from TucsonSentinel.com's Paul Ingram, who was there in court throughout the trial »

Earlier this week: 4 No More Deaths volunteers on trial for leaving water, food in wildlife refuge

The trial of four No More Deaths volunteers facing federal charges this week may have serious implications for the future of humanitarian aid for people crossing through Southern Arizona's deserts. Read more»

More authentically local news

City atty: 'Sanctuary city' initiative may violate SB1070

Even as organizers work to collect signatures for a citizen initiative that aims to make Tucson a “sanctuary” for immigrants, City Attorney Mike Rankin wrote on Wednesday that parts of the initiative are in “direct conflict” with Arizona’s controversial SB1070.

On Saturday, organizers with the Tucson Families Free and Together campaign began collecting the 9,241 signatures they need to get on the November ballot.

While Tucson and other cities, like Phoenix, have already modified their police general orders to protect immigrants and share less information with immigration authorities, this measure would make Tucson the state's only sanctuary city. A similar move is currently in the works in Flagstaff.

Zaira Livier, the executive director the People's Defense Initiative, which is managing the campaign, said that protecting people in the country illegally in Tucson is "exactly what we're trying to do."

Rankin, in a memo prepared for city officials, said that the measure would violate state law in some aspects, and limit local cooperation with federal law enforcement agencies, such as the FBI, Marshals Service or DEA, if they did not sign a special agreement with Tucson. He also assessed parts of the proposed ordinance legally unenforceable as written, and noted the measure would provide protection against immigration inquiries for people charged with domestic violence and sexual assault.

Organizers said they specifically wrote the measure to withstand challenges, and purposefully used the word "sanctuary" in the initiative. Read more»

What the Devil won't tell you, columnist Blake Morlock will

MLK & impatience: Dubious sanctuary initiative seeks to create necessary 'tension'

Activists are collecting signatures for Tucson "sanctuary city" initiative that may be counterproductive, ill-conceived, total folly, legally doomed — and yet remains exactly the right thing to do. Read more analysis and commentary from Morlock »

More news

376 people, including families & children, detained crossing border near Yuma

While the federal government remains shutdown over border security spending, a group of 376 people, almost all families or unaccompanied children from Central America, crossed the border barrier near Yuma on Monday morning.

Border Patrol said on Twitter that the group of 376 Central Americans "inundated" agents in the sector, posting video of the group, who crossed near San Luis, just south of Yuma, Ariz. and were walking on a patrol road alongside the 18-foot metal bollard wall. Read more»

Weekend music

Tucson sounds: The Gem Show, Alien Jacket, & Juliana Warkentin

Local rocker John Polle's latest band The Gem Show, teen band Alien Jacket and pop songstress Juliana Warkentin, plus music news, weekly listings and more in your TucsonSentinel.com music roundup. Read more from TucsonSentinel.com's

Julie Jennings Patterson »

Randi Dorman, developer, staking out bid in Democratic mayoral primary

She's still playing it mum in public, but developer Randi Dorman is making moves to join the race for Tucson mayor — talking to prospective campaign staffers as well as potential donors. Read more»

Pardon the interruption

Support your local nonprofit independent news: TucsonSentinel.com

Please support the solid, reliable journalism that is the bedrock of our democracy, and help underwrite your local nonprofit news site: the independent TucsonSentinel.com

With the challenges we face as a community, and the heated partisan rhetoric about which set of "facts" to believe, there's never been a more urgent need for independent, transparent and vigilant local reporting. Give your tax-deductible gift today to invest in TucsonSentinel.com's award-winning authentically local news for 2019 & beyond.

Please join with your fellow readers and support TucsonSentinel.com. We'll put your dollars to work holding politicians accountable, reporting the untold stories of the borderlands, and bringing you and the rest of Southern Arizona nonpartisan independent news without the spin.

We count on readers like you to help us pursue these important stories. If you value what we're doing and want to see TucsonSentinel.com continue and grow, please make your tax-deductible gift today! »

We have big plans to expand our reach, deepen our reporting, and increase the impact of authentically local news throughout 2019 — but we need your help right now.

If you haven't yet, join donors like Edna Gray, Gregory McNamee, Humberto Lopez, Mark Napier, Jim Kelley, Matt Kopec, John Winchester, Jim Nintzel, David Burke, Monica Franzi Humbles, Lorraine Glicksman, Susan Crane, Esther White, Tom Zoellner, Kenny Jacobs, JD Wallace, Kate Kenski, Sarah Launius, Robin Hoover, Cynthia Meier, Veronica Feemster Moody, Margaret Bowden, Paul D'Hedouville, Rick Unklesbay, Jimmy Boegle, Marion Chubon, Linus Kafka, Tom Volgy, David Mandel, Betsy Bolding, Janni Simner, Alison Jones, Joel Fineman, Mike Holmes, Kirsten Engel, Jennifer Phillips, Sharon Bronson, Ron Barber, Jeff Latas, Kristin Almquist, Chuck Freitas, Regina Suitt, Chuck Huckelberry, Jim Hannley, Gretchen Wagenseller, Kristel Foster, Robin Hiller, as well as Jean-Paul Bierny, Donna Mabry, Byron Howard, Tim O'Grady, Ben McNitt and many others, and give your gift today!

An alert watchdog

Journalism is a vital public service in a democracy. Investigative reporting uncovers injustice, exposes corruption and holds officials accountable. Community reporting celebrates the unique nature of Tucson's people, reflecting our sense of place through a knowing lens.

We aim to provide both: to point out the things we all love about Southern Arizona, and point to possible solutions for what needs changing. We believe that just as an unexamined life is not worth living, an unexamined city is not worth living in. A smarter Tucson is a better Tucson.

But insightful reporting doesn't come free. Make your gift today — you may make a one-time contribution, or sign up for a monthly subscription that supports nonpartisan reporting year-round.

And just one more thing: Do us a huge favor and help spread the word about TucsonSentinel.com by telling your friends and family about us, and why you believe truly independent local news is so vital. Forward this to a Friend ([http://us6.forward-to-friend.com/forward?

u=60fafa53746ef501df48e9534&id=2168cb1602&e=ad69c5c60d](http://us6.forward-to-friend.com/forward?u=60fafa53746ef501df48e9534&id=2168cb1602&e=ad69c5c60d)) Thanks so much!

More local news

Pima men's basketball win streak halted at Phoenix College

The Pima Community College men's basketball team (14-4, 7-3 in ACCAC) had its 10-game winning streak snapped on Wednesday at Phoenix College (7-11, 2-8).

Read more»

2

Pima women's basketball overcomes 17-point deficit to stun Phoenix College

The Pima Community College women's basketball team (10-8, 6-4 in ACCAC) put it all together to rally in the second half on Wednesday at Phoenix College (4-14, 2-8).

Read more»

Sponsor shout-out

Rocco's Little Chicago

"The best pizza in your neighborhood"

The fine folks at Rocco's Little Chicago Pizzeria have been great supporters of TucsonSentinel.com right from the get-go.

TucsonSentinel.com is a local nonprofit organization, and we depend on underwriting from local small businesses, as well as gifts from readers like you, to keep our hard-working reporters in hot coffee and cold pizza. Through rigorous deep-dive journalistic investigation, we've found that some of the best leftover pizza is from Rocco's.

So the next time you're buying a tasty pie or sandwich over near Broadway and Country Cub, let Rocco DiGrazia know you appreciate his support for quality independent local news without the spin! And save us a slice, OK?

And if you operate a local small business, get in touch with us for exclusive rates on effective underwriting packages that reach thousands of Tucsonans every day!

<http://www.tucsonsentinel.com/sponsor>

In case you missed it

Gov't shutdown cancels nearly 43,000

immigration hearings, including 1K in Arizona

Nearly 43,000 hearings in immigration cases have been cancelled, including nearly 1,000 cases in Arizona, as judges and staff have been furloughed because of the partial shutdown of the federal government.

Driven by a fight over a White House demand for more than $5.7 billion for a border wall, the shutdown has entered its fourth week, leaving the nation's immigration court system paralyzed after a significant percentage of the Justice Department's judges, lawyers and staff have been effectively laid off.

The delayed hearings, which must be rescheduled, will result in an "avalanche" of cases that will clog the immigration docket for years, an experienced federal immigration judge said.

"This is the straw added to the camel's back and it breaks us," said Judge Dana Leigh Marks, president emeritus of the National Association of Immigration Judges.

Read more»

What the Devil: Arizona thirsty: Tucson should answer Ducey's call for bipartisan drought planning ... or else

Ducey's call for shared sacrifice usually spells doom for Tucson, so local leaders better cowboy up and answer his call for bipartisan cooperation to deal with Arizona's drought. We got water to spare and the wolves in Phoenix know it. Read more of Blake's take »

'Let's get to work': Ducey touts accomplishments, lists water & education as top priorities

Education funding and the looming threat of water shortages were among the key issues Gov. Doug Ducey emphasized in his State of the State address Monday afternoon. Read more»

Supreme Court won't hear Arizona law denying bail in sex-assault cases

The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to revive a voter-approved Arizona law that denied bail to suspects in sexual assault cases, after that law was struck down as unconstitutional last year. Read more»

Arizona's Biggs, Gosar among handful to vote against back pay for furloughed

feds

President Donald Trump repeated a promise Monday that furloughed federal workers will get back pay when the government shutdown ends, but a bill to do just that was opposed by two Republican lawmakers from Arizona. Read more»

9th Circuit says Tucson woman can use battered woman syndrome as defense in gun case

A federal appeals court ordered a new trial for a Tucson woman, saying she was wrongly denied the chance to present evidence of battered woman syndrome in her defense against weapons charges. Read more»

UA lectures to focus on endangered vaquita porpoises

UA's free Science Tumamoc Hill lectures will focus on the world's smallest porpoise, Mexico's vaquita, which has been pushed to the brink of extinction by illegal gill net fishing. Read more»

Like us Facebook • Follow us Twitter • Forward this to a Friend

Support local indie news without the spin!

TucsonSentinel.com is your nonprofit local independent news source. We rely on readers like you — and underwriting from local small business owners — to bring you accurate & grounded journalism on Tucson & Southern Arizona. We're nonpartisan: we don't back political candidates or push a point of view. We're nonprofit: we report because we're invested in making Tucson a better place, not to send profits out of town. And your donation to back our work is tax-deductible: Support us today at www.TucsonSentinel.com/donate.

A smarter Tucson is a better Tucson.

Copyright © 2019 TucsonSentinel.com, All rights reserved.

You're receiving this news alert because you're a registered member of TucsonSentinel.com, or because you've opted into this list elsewhere.

Our mailing address is:

TucsonSentinel.com
1960 N Painted Hills
Tucson, AZ 85745

Add us to your address book

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences